

What to do if you leave something in a taxi

If you lose anything in a taxi you should first contact the police as drivers are advised to hand in any lost property to their local police station. Telephone 101 and ask to be put through to the help desk at your relevant police station.

If you lose anything in a private hire vehicle then please contact the private hire operator firm for the vehicle in which you travelled.

If you have managed to take note of the drivers badge number, the vehicle plate number or registration then please contact us and we may be able to contact the driver on your behalf.

Always be careful with your belongings, it may be the next customer who finds your property and not the driver. We can not be held responsible for lost property or the actions of any driver or operator
